Founders Message

Men come seeking answers on why they keep getting into the same types of relationships with similar outcomes, having issues surrounding money or feeling stuck in their lives. They want to fix or change their outside circumstances in order to feel better on the inside. We change that paradigm perspective in this work. We shift our attention & awareness inward. Before a man can know and claim his purpose, he must burn his attachments which preoccupy his mind and his life. As he does, he will pick up the scent of his inner essence-his higher self-to guide and lead him. He then learns to develop & nurture that inner flame. He stops his conquest to feel free from the burdens of his circumstances and finds nourishment through his connection to the Divine. He stops falling in love with the gifts & starts falling in love with the Giver.”

The growth, self-awareness, capacity for leadership, and brotherhood that I've cultivated during the MI-IR program has made a tremendous impact on my life. I used to be constantly swayed by the turbulence of life happening around me, whether it be related to career or relationships. Then, through working with Amir and the MI-IR program, I learned to ground myself through a more intuitive understanding of nature and a daily practice to sustain my connection to the Divine. Life is constantly testing us, and it's easy to be bulldozed by our circumstances, but by doing the hard-work set out for me in this program, and staying close to the trustable men that I've met there, I've learned to find my center and to daily reaffirm my commitment to deepening my consciousness. I used to not fully trust men, I used to have a story about how I don't fit in with them, until I met the men in this group who I trust with my life. I've never felt more inner peace and groundedness, all during the middle of a global pandemic. Any man who wishes to find his connection to something greater than himself and develop the capacity to handle the turbulence of the world should absolutely enroll in this program.

What MI-IR Alumni Have To Say

“ It is often said that getting from head to heart is the longest journey, and this program gives us concrete, real world vehicles to experience the fullness of love & presence that we were perhaps created for. It is challenging, and freeing. Join in on this adventure into your own soul, and you will be changed. - Beau W ”

“ We are often blind to seeing our true selves. We live our day-to-day conforming to societal constructs, which suppresses our ability to embody and show the world our true inner warrior

In doing the work in this program, I am peeling back layers upon layers of bullshit! The container in which Amir holds alongside the men doing the work with me, has been instrumental in shifting and reshaping who I am and the gift that I bring into this world. Words can't express my deepest gratitude. - John Y ”

“ The work with Embodied Masculine has cultivated tools and awareness in me to more fully express and see the beauty within me, nature, my family & friends. I encourage anyone who is called to this path to step in & experience deeply the joy of finding their purpose & freely expressing their gifts to the world. When you choose to do this work you will take a meaningful step into your deepest most authentic life. - Steve W ”

What Does The Initiation Entail?

During the months leading up to the private initiation retreat, you will be training to strengthen yourself physically, emotionally, and spiritually. During the retreat we will meet in person in the heart of Nature to dive deeper into shared embodiment practices from sunrise to sunset. We will be nourished with amazing farm-to-table meals and participate in a transformative initiation ceremony on the final night of your stay.

The initiation ceremony experience is intentionally private in nature but know that it is designed to connect you on a cellular level to the deepest part of you, bringing you in communion with the Great Mother, Nature, Higher Self, God or however you choose call Her.
